

4 GLOBAL ISSUES

WHAT ARE GLOBAL ISSUES?

Global issues are worldwide problems that need worldwide solutions.

Poverty & Inequality

SOCIAL ISSUES

What we can do:

According to the Philippine Statistics Authority, 19.9% of Filipinos were living below the poverty line in 2021, with many households struggling to access quality education, healthcare, and basic services. Children and rural communities remain the most vulnerable groups.

- Support local charities and community feeding programs.
- Promote education through tutoring, donations, or volunteer work.
- Practice inclusivity and awareness about inequality.

Governance & Public Trust

POLITICAL ISSUES

What we can do:

Inflation in the Philippines reached 8.1% in 2022, raising the cost of food, transportation, and utilities and making it harder for families to afford daily necessities. This financial strain disrupts saving, employment, and overall livelihood.

- Stay informed using reliable, verified sources.
- Participate in elections and local governance activities.
- Hold leaders accountable through legal and peaceful means.

Inflation & Cost of Living

ECONOMIC ISSUES

What we can do:

PSA surveys reflect a growing expectation for stronger transparency, accountability, and good governance. Political instability around the world also affects public trust, peace, and participation in national and local affairs.

- Budget wisely and prioritize essential spending.
- Support local businesses to strengthen community economies.
- Learn basic financial literacy to manage personal finances better.

Climate Change & Natural Disasters

ENVIRONMENTAL ISSUES

What we can do:

The Philippines is one of the most disaster-prone countries globally, facing increasingly severe typhoons, floods, droughts, and rising temperatures linked to climate change. These hazards negatively affect agriculture, fisheries, water supply, and daily living conditions.

- Reduce waste, recycle, and conserve water and energy.
- Join tree-planting and community cleanup drives.
- Stay disaster-prepared: emergency kits, evacuation plans, awareness.

Conclusion

These global issues—poverty, inflation, governance challenges, and climate risks—reflect the urgent concerns faced by many Filipinos today. PSA data shows that addressing these problems requires awareness, cooperation, and responsible action. By working together, we can help create a more resilient and sustainable future for the country.
